Attention! Online Option of the Hybrid Specialist Conference on Painting cancelled!

In the first part of the annual conference from September 13–15, the specialist conferences on painting therapy and therapeutic speech design will take place.

The specialist conference on painting therapy will take place for the first time in this framework, and there had been also the possibility to attend it online. Since only one registration has been made so far, we hereby cancel the online part. The conference can still be attended on site!
